It has been a cool start to winter, and our staff as usual have been busy helping our loyal customers. At Michael Wilson Diamond Jewellers we pride ourselves on customer relations and believe in building an ongoing relationship with our clients as we share in many momentous occasions.

We have a huge range of diamond ring designs on display and believe that we have something for every taste, whether it be classic, contemporary or truly unique. Otherwise our very talented jewellers are more than happy to custom make a piece especially to suit its wearer.

Although the company has grown and changed in many ways since its beginnings some 40 years ago, we carry on the tradition of providing superior quality jewellery design at the most competitive prices, assuring all clients that a feature of buying jewellery from our gallery is our commitment to personal attention and first class service.

In 2015 Aaron Wilson has been on his annual trips to the International Jewellery Fairs in both Hong Kong and Las Vegas to source unique stones and materials. As a result, our workshop has created some of our new favourite pieces, which we are happy to share a glimpse of in this newsletter.

Earlier in April we held an evening at the gallery with the very talented Monica Szwaja. It was great to see all of Monica's fans arrive modelling their favourite Monica jewellery designs. We were very excited at this event, as it was an occasion for us to also see a number of amazing pieces that Monica has recently created. It was a great opportunity for our clients to meet Monica in person and appreciate as much as we do the creativity and passion that she puts into every piece. Make sure you sign up to our e-newsletter to be notified of our next gallery event. Sign up via www.michaelwilson.com.au

We were thrilled with the response that we received over Christmas in acknowledgement of our campaign to help save the critically endangered Leadbeater's Possum. We managed to raise funds and awareness in support of this tiny creature. It is clear that all of our local clients feel as passionately as we do about our local native icon and making a difference within our environment. For more information regarding the possum and what you can do to help please visit www.leadbeaters.org.au

We also want to take this opportunity to announce that Nina is now on maternity leave until early next year and we are all excited to see whether she has a little girl or boy this July. With Nina's absence we have taken on a new staff member who we would like to introduce. Paula is a local who has experience with jewellery and will be more than happy to help with any of your enquiries. We are pleased to welcome her to our close team at the gallery.

Enjoy perusing some of our new designs and old favourites in this midyear newsletter. Remember that you are always welcome in the gallery to get your Michael Wilson jewellery cleaned free of charge or just to enjoy a visit and a nice cup of coffee. We look forward to seeing you soon.

Extremely Rare Blue and Pink Natural Argyle Diamonds

Beyond Rare...

Pink diamonds are a true rarity. Australia's Argyle diamond mine is the only mine in the world consistently producing these magnificent gemstones. Only one carat of pink is found in every million carats of diamonds. So rare that a whole years production of Argyle pink diamonds can be cradled in your hand. Rarer still are blue diamonds, which make up less than 0.0001 percent of the world's diamonds.

At Michael Wilson Diamond Jewellers we have always been proud to have access to an exquisite selection of rare pink diamonds. Stones that very few would ever have the opportunity of viewing. In our history of working with pinks, since they became available in the early 1980s, we have only once ever had the opportunity to purchase a set of Argyle blue diamonds. Of course this was an opportunity not to miss. As a result Michael designed and created this exquisite pink and blue diamond ring set against a sea of over 90 pavé set white diamonds.

This rare piece of artistry belongs on a person who appreciates the unique, exceptional and exquisite. There is a certain luxury in wearing an item that only you and the initiated few understand has true rarity and value. As a gift, this piece would make a statement that goes beyond all expectation.

Celtic Birdshead Spiral Neckace

Directly influenced from Ancient Celtic Civilisation, the Birdshead Spiral design originated in Ireland 6th Century AD and is based on a crested birds head. The design illustrates the prominence of spiral patterns in traditional Celtic design.
